Dear classmates: As our SELECT and 2nd year SET classmates move to new adventures, we want to get together once more, and have our very own SET barbecue.

Hope to see you all!!

Dear classmates,

June has arrived, bringing warm and sunny and lovely days. Barbues spring everywhere, and we feel that vacations are just around the corner. This means two things: the end of year exams, and the farewell of our SELECT friends. And so, to properly say goodbye, we will have a SET barbecue.

In this edition of the Newsletter you can find: A new student of the month, all the stories from the Delft Energy Battle, all the stories from the KEMA visit, and of course, the details to the barbecue.

See you around,

The AC-SET (Activity Committee of SET).

Visit to KEMA labs: the journey

Last May 15th, a group of SET students had the chance to visit KEMA-DNV facilities, and have a guided tour through their High Voltage and Flexi Power labs, located in Arnhem.

In addition, we also had presentations from different members of the company. The day ended with social drinks, a nice moment before heading back to Eindhoven.

To everyone who joined, thanks a lot for your participation and interest!

NRG Battle: round 2

NRG Battle, Round 2 was organized on last 25th May. 5 students along with one senior participated in the event toiling, solving energy issues provided by companies such as GasTerra, Siemens, E.ON & TenneT. Apart from cracking the cases, it was an opportunity to meet fellow group members from various countries and to develop relations with company representatives.

We had a day with both challenging and funny moments (ask Mansoor about it). In the end, it was our own ACSET Ramesh Prateek who was among the finalists and will go to the next round.

Overall, it was a great experience & we hope that this tradition would continue towards the next edition of the battle to be held in October.

Student of the month

1. Why TU/e?

Because I chose SET and I found Netherlands the best place to practice it.

2. A place in Eindhoven where Dutch people can get proper Indian food.

A restaurant called Taj Mahal at Geldropsweg.

3. Coming from a hot country, why is your food so spicy?

The recent takeaways and hotel food makes all the dishes spicy.. But generally old indian food does not contain so much spice except for the pickles instead they have a lot of herbs which adds a lot of taste and is good for health

4. What are the plans for the summer?

To start with, I have my intern from July. Apart from that planning to explore places on some of the long weekends specially by renting a car :)

Name: Smruti Srinivasan
Country: India
